D no unit

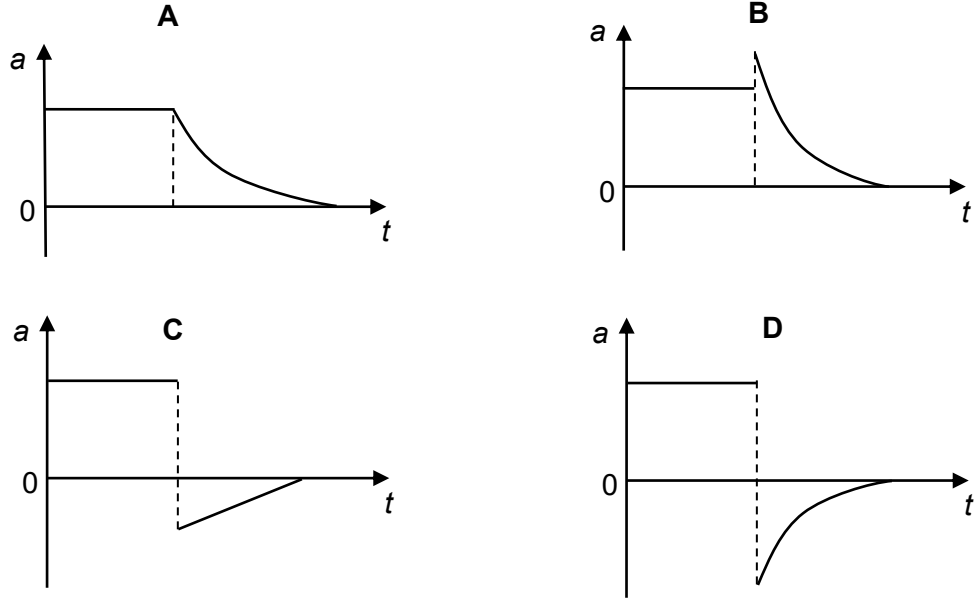
3 A small metal sphere is released from rest one metre above the surface of a viscous fluid. The sphere experience a viscous force that is proportional to its velocity when moving in the fluid.


Which of the following graphs best represents the variation of the acceleration a of the sphere with time t?