

	12	A	When two objects A and B are placed in thermal contact, heat flows from the hotter object to the colder object B, until they reached thermal equilibrium. At thermal equilibrium, both objects A and B are at the same temperature.
	13	B	At equilibrium, the temperature of both objects is the same.