11	D The molecules bounce off the in-moving piston with a higher speed than the speed of collision. The molecules gain kinetic energy from the in-moving piston. Since average kinetic energy increases, the temperature increases.
12	D