20	A	The electric field lines will always be perpendicular to the equipotential surfaces. Since the separation of the plate is greater at the top, the electric field strength will be weaker and lines more separated.
21	A	Recall that to find the root-mean-square (r.m.s.) value of any waveform, square the values of the waveform, find their mean, and then take the square