

voltage in it remains unchanged.

24. Ans: A

$$\mathcal{E} = BLv = (0.54)(0.10)(2.2) = 0.12 \text{ V}$$

With reference to an electron in the rod, using Fleming's LHR, the force on the electron is downwards. Hence end B will be at a lower potential.