

	perpendicular distance between the forces decreases and hence the torque decreases.
27	D The distance here refers to the distance between the wingtips which is s and the magnetic flux density perpendicular to v is $B \cos \theta$. Thus induced e.m.f. is $Bsv \cos \theta$.
28	A