

7	C Upthrust is weight of fluid displaced, so upthrust in I & II are the same which is more than that in III. In I & III, the ball is in equilibrium and hence resultant force is 0. In II, there is a resultant force acting upwards, hence the ball rises.
8	B