

9.      Ans: C

For a satellite in orbit,  $\frac{GMm}{r^2} = \frac{mv^2}{r} \Rightarrow v = \sqrt{\frac{GM}{r}}$

Therefore, speed of the satellite is independent of the satellite's mass.

For the same orbit with the same radius, the required speed is the same.