

		2 neutrons (helium-4 nucleus) in this question.
30	C	After the white light passes through sodium vapor, the spectrum observed will be absorption spectrum, or dark lines against the continuous spectrum (coloured background). Through the diffraction grating, the white light will be diffracted to different coloured background. The dark lines will be juxtaposed among the coloured background.