

15	B	With $x = \frac{\lambda D}{a}$, to increase the distance between the fringes, • the wavelength of the light source should be increased. Hence its frequency should be decreased. • the distance between the slits and the screen should be increased. • the distance between the slits should be reduced Increasing the distance between the light source and the slits does not affect the fringe separation.
16	D	