$\Rightarrow \quad T = 2.00 \text{ s}$

7 A

Not net energy gain or lost since there are no resistive forces. Hence total energy for both will be the same since their initial total energy is the same.

Since ball 2 takes shorter time, its rate of energy conversion (power) is higher.