19	Ans: C Electric field strength at a point is the negative potential gradient at that point. For the entire distance of x, the gradient of the potential graph is negative, hence the Electric field strength is positive value. At the middle of the potential graph, the gradient is non-zero (minimum gradient). Hence, the electric field strength is a minimum (not zero).