

20	Ans : D The direction of electric field line at a point indicates the direction of electric force on a positive test charge placed at the point. Since an electron is a negative charge, it will experience an electric force in the direction opposite to that of the electric field.
21	Ans : A	