

23 L2	Solution: C As the r.m.s current is the equivalent dc current for the same power dissipation in the same resistor, since the fuse breaks when the a.c. r.m.s. current is 13 A, this implies that the fuse will also break at d.c. current of 13 A.
24	Solution: A		