19 Two metal spheres of different radii are in thermal contact for a long time in a vacuum as shown.

Which statement must be correct?

A Each sphere has the same internal energy.

B Both spheres radiate heat to the surroundings at the same rate.

C There is no net transfer of thermal energy between the spheres.

D The larger sphere has a greater mean internal energy per atom than the smaller sphere.