

When F is removed, B experiences a net force equal to F towards the left. A has not yet experienced any net force as the initial tension on both sides have not changed.

7 D

9 B The weight of the air inside the bag is balanced by the upthrust which depends on the density