

	the same way (may)
7.	Ans: B Since efficiency is the ratio of useful power to power supplied, the efficiency at each point is numerically equal the gradient of the straight line connecting the point to (0,0). Since the gradient decreases from P to Q to R, the efficiency is decreasing throughout the process.
8	Ans: C