

Q18

Initially, the spring is already extended due to weight of P and the downward electric force.

When P is lowered, the spring is extended further and therefore, elastic potential energy of the system increases.

A negatively charged object moved towards the positive plate will experience a loss in electric potential energy.

Ans: C

