

		left.
28	A	When operating voltage is decreased, the electrons have less energy and the cut-off wavelength λ_1 is longer. Since the target material has not changed, there is no difference in the characteristic spectrum and hence there is no change in λ_2 .
29	A	Majority of the particles will still pass through without deviation. Although the charge of