

18

C

Statements A, B, D are correct assumptions while statement C is incorrect. The molecules are assumed to undergo elastic collisions with the walls of the container i.e. after the collisions the molecules move off in the opposite direction while having the same speed. Hence the change in momentum of the molecules Δp as shown below is not negligible.

$$\Delta p = mv - m(-v) = 2mv$$

BeforeAfter

6

19	A	From the ideal gas equation: $pV = NkT$	(1)
----	---	---	-----