

		$R = 400 \Omega$
25	C	The current in X produces a magnetic field along the circumference of coil Y in the clockwise direction. This magnetic field produced is parallel to the current in each part of coil Y, hence there is no magnetic force induced on coil Y in all directions.
26	B	As the wire is raised vertically, it cuts the horizontal component of the Earth's magnetic