

- 5 C This is a completely inelastic collision. Hence, total mechanical energy is not conserved.
A is wrong.

Gravitational potential energy gained by both block and bullet is equal to the loss in kinetic energy by the bullet.
B is wrong.

The total horizontal momentum of the two masses is conserved because the resultant horizontal force acting on them is zero.
D is wrong.