

will accumulate at P, causing Q to be of higher electrical potential.

- 26 C If the magnetic flux linkage is a sine function, the induced e.m.f. will be a cosine function, and vice-versa. Hence, the phase difference between them is $\pi/2$ rad.

