15 An ideal gas is held in a constant volume container fitted with a valve through which gas can escape.

Starting at 250 K, the temperature of the gas is raised by 1000 K while its pressure in the container is allowed to double.

What fraction of the original number of gas molecules escape through the valve?

A 0.4 B 0.5 C 0.6 D 0.9